

Visitor Information Guide

March 9-10, 2023

Clark Center Auditorium

Stanford University

Welcome to Palo Alto

Thank you for joining us for Stanford Arts Institute's 2023 Research and the Artistic (Im)pulse Symposium. This two-day event brings together internationally renowned artists, scholars, and scientists to explore how – across diverse disciplines – artists' ways of thinking and doing can inspire new modes of work and new kinds of work-products. We hope to discuss how these new modes and work-products can more directly engage public interest, and more directly impact on pressing societal needs. We're so glad you've joined us!

Below you'll find a collection of recommendations for accommodation, dining, and entertainment for your time in Palo Alto. We look forward to seeing you at the Clark Center Auditorium on March 9. Until then, feel free to reach out with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Stanford Arts Institute

Places of Interest, Entertainment

Cantor Arts Center, 328 Lomita Drive at Museum Way, Stanford

*A Change of Scenery: Photographs of Leisure in the Landscape*

"surveys ways of "being" in the landscape, encompassing common activities like sight-seeing, recreation, and play, and affective states like joy, intimacy, affinity, and belonging. Featuring approximately 55 American photographs from the 19th and 20th centuries from the Cantor collection depicting people in various outdoor public spaces, this single-gallery exhibition considers the importance of access to nature and leisure, what access entails, and how it shapes identity."

The Stanford Arizona Garden

"The Arizona Garden is a historical garden in the process of renovation and preservation. It is located on the south side of the mausoleum off of Quarry Road between Campus Drive and Arboretum Road. The garden, also known as the Cactus Garden, was designed for Jane and Leland Stanford by landscape architect Rudolf Ulrich between 1881 and 1883. During the early years of the university, the Cactus Garden became the meeting place for many courting Stanford students."

The Stanford Dish (recreational walking / jogging path)

"Experience this 3.7-mile loop trail near Stanford, California. Generally considered a moderately challenging route, it takes an average of 1 h 37 min to complete. This is a very popular area for running and walking, so you'll likely encounter other people while exploring. The trail is open year-round and is beautiful to visit anytime."
